

Please join us for an Historical Lecture
“Royal Assassinations”
WITH JASON SCAPPATICCI

Wednesday, March 27th | 1:00 PM
ARBORS AUDITORIUM
403 W Center St | Manchester, CT 06040

Jason Scappaticci, known as “The Bow Tie Historian”, is a fabulous speaker!

Jason is a Manchester resident who earned his MA in American Studies. He has a passion for history and enjoys sharing it with others. Some topics of particular interest for Jason are presidential history, world’s fairs, and the golden age of transatlantic passenger liners. These topics are reflected in many of the lectures he has taken around the state to libraries and historical societies.

Professionally, Jason has worked in higher education since 2003. He began his career at Manchester Community College working with low income and first-generation college students. After 16 years at Manchester Community College Jason was named the Associate Dean of Student Affairs at Capital Community College.
